Murder Charges Against Mrs. Dean in Hands of Jury

CHAIRMAN OF FCC SAYS HE IS MALIGNED

Washington (AP) — John C. Doerfer, chairman of the Federal Communications Commission, told House investigators today he repaid two weeks ago $165.12 received in 1954 from an Oklahoma television station.

Doerfer, protesting he was "seriously maligned," said he had banked the money under the misapprehension it constituted reimbursement for airline transportation for himself and his wife to attend a ceremony staged by station KWTW, Oklahoma City.

Doerfer disclosed the repayment as he resumed the witness chair to answer allegations of misconduct against five of seven FCC commissioners before a special subcommittee investigating federal regulatory agencies.

Subcommittee counsel Bernard Schwartz yesterday produced documents purporting to show that Doerfer was furnished airline transportation from Washington to Oklahoma City by KWTW, but that he traveled back to Washington via Spokane, Wash., at government expense.

Doerfer is the first of the seven federal communications commissioners to be called before a special House subcommittee. That group started out to check the working methods of six government agencies and branched into allegations of personal misconduct against five FCC members.

Two Rural Schools Close as Winter Takes Firmer Grip on Area Bringing New Snowfall

Winter took a firmer grip on Warren County last night. Another 2.3 inches fell in the borough bringing total accumulation to 11 inches on the ground.

Temperatures fell to 19 degrees early Monday and did not rise above 24 the entire day. Bitter winds "shivered everyone's timbers." Temperatures today stayed in the 20s.

The borough got off with a relatively light snow sentence. Back in the hills, varying amounts of snow fell and the swirling wind heaved it up in drifts across rural roads. Schools closed at Scandia and Irwindale and buses could not bring high school students from there into Warren.

Highway Superintendent Chester Walker said this morning that his crews had been out all night battling the wind drifts mostly in the northern reaches of the county.

Swirls of snow were bad, said Walker, particularly in the areas of Lottsville, Follet Run, Sugar Grove and York Hill beyond Youngsville. Elsewhere, lighter trucks had kept roads open for the most part in Sheffield and Tidoute sections.

Superintendent Walker said he expected to have all roads reopened by this evening. However, he noted that if the wind continues a road can be plowed and 15 minutes later be drifted impassable once again.

By The Associated Press

The season's coldest weather gripped sections of the Southeast today as storm weather which hit Northeast areas appeared diminishing.

Below freezing temperatures extended southward through much of northern Florida with forecasts of frost or freezing weather in farm lands. Damaging freezes hit the farm areas earlier this year.

Strong winds lashed Eastern sections yesterday, piling huge snow drifts and blocking some highways. Drifts ranging from five to eight feet were reported "in western Pennsylvania. No classes were to be held in eight school districts because of the heavy drifts in many rural areas.

King Winter continued to hold uncomfortable court in Pennsylvania today, dispensing sub-freezing temperatures, snow and blustery winds.

Low temperatures were the rule throughout the state. Snow struck hardest in the western half—from the Allegheny Mountains to the Ohio line.

High winds added to the discomfort by drifting snow as deep as eight feet in some areas and making some secondary roads impassable.

Cinderling crews and snow plows toiled last night to keep highways open. Even when cleared of snow, some roads remained slippery in spots.

The Pennsylvania Turnpike was snow and ice-covered from the Gateway Interchange to the Allegheny Mountain Tunnel. The east portion of the toll road was reported dry.

No serious accidents were reported.

The weather bureau predicted flurries for most of today. Tomorrow should be warmer, forecasters said.

STRONG WIND DELAYS FIRING OF SATELLITE

Washington (AP)—Strong winds put an apparent damper on any new U. S. satellite firing today as scientists came up with more details of Explorer I, the Army satellite circling the globe every 115 minutes.

There was no damper on planning, however.

Army scientists are reported to be proposing that an elaborate satellite, loaded with instruments and weighing up to 700 pounds, be fired before the end of the year to gather data for building a space station.

The Navy was said to be hoping to put a 20-inch satellite in orbit on schedule next month despite delays in preliminary tests.

The Navy is waiting to fire aloft its first six-inch sphere when weather permits.

A slim, 72-foot Vanguard rocket, vehicle for the Navy satellite, stood on a launching pad at the Cape Canaveral, Fla., testing grounds throughout yesterday. But high winds whipping eastward over the cape for the third straight day apparently frustrated any new firing attempts.

Army scientists, buoyed by their success with Explorer I, plan to launch sometime between now and April a second Explorer.

Already they are planning toward a third satellite, weighing 300 pounds and equipped with television for reconnaissance. That would be followed by the 700-pound Explorer IV as the forerunner of a space station.

It was learned that Dr. Werner von Braun, Maj. Gen. John B. Medaris and others instrumental in developing Explorer I have asked the Army for permission to start building the huge satellite.

They contend they could do the job with the basic Redstone rocket model which put Explorer I in orbit.

The big satellite could carry cameras and television recording equipment like those planned for Explorer III, plus elaborate electronic and photographic equipment to provide data needed for building a space station.

Scientists announced new information on Explorer I, the 6½-foot, tubelike satellite now racing around the globe for the fourth day.

At Cambridge, Mass., Dr. Don A. Lautman, senior scientist at the Smithsonian Astrophysical Observatory, supported earlier estimates the Explorer may last for as long as 10 years.

He said the satellite may orbit "several years—and possibly as much as 10 years."

Paducah Police Expand Search For Kidnaper

Paducah, Ky., (AP)—Police intensified a house-to-house search for an armed kidnaper today and warned curiosity seekers out of the area where a young woman was accidentally shot to death at a roadblock set up to catch the bandit.

Capt. Stuart Miller of the Kentucky state police said officers would expand their search of all buildings in the Melber area in a remote part of McCracken County where Carl Burton, 24, was last seen Sunday night.

Burton, heavily armed, left a farmhouse on foot after he and Harold Davis, 33, held Missouri State Trooper William Little and a farm couple prisoner for 24 hours. Davis attempted to commit suicide and was captured.

The fatal shooting of Jewell English, 24, Paducah, occurred when her brother Claude English, 27, inadvertently drove through a roadblock between Paducah and the Melber community where two civilians had joined a Missouri state trooper.

Forest McAllister, 26, Fulton, fired the Missouri trooper's carbine at the auto and the trooper used a shotgun. McAllister, who with a friend, Charles King, had stopped their own car to talk with the trooper, said he didn't know whose shot hit the girl. She was hit in the back.

Ike Seeks Advice On the Future of U.S. Space Program

Washington, (AP)—President Eisenhower has ordered his science adviser to come up with recommendations on whether America's space program should be left in the Pentagon or turned over to some new agency of government.

This disclosure came out of an unusually long conference between the President and top Republicans in the Senate and House.

Dr. James R. Killian, Jr., Eisenhower's adviser on scientific problems, provided a briefing at the session.

Senate Republican Leader Knowland of California told reporters afterward that Killian will produce a report on "the type of structure we may need to set up in the field of outer space activities—as to where it will be in the over-all structure of the government."

Such activity now is centered in the Defense Department.

When the Killian report will come along, Knowland didn't say. He said it will go first to the President and then to the Republican leaders on Capitol Hill.

Heart Association Head Asks Aid of Business

Pittsburgh (AP) — Dr. Robert W. Wilkins, president of the American Heart Assn., says heart disease is responsible for "a cost that is staggering to American business" and asks business to help alleviate the problem.

Addressing a gathering of business leaders here last night he said the responsibility for the prevention of premature deaths from heart diseases rests to a great extent on the co-operation of businessmen.

Dr. Wilkins proposed support from American industry to advance research in diseases affecting the heart. He said that "last year, 650,000 man-years were lost to heart disease." He added that "diseases of the heart and blood vessels each year take the lives of about 840,000 Americans."

His speech preceded today's first national celebration of "Heart Day for Business."

Allegheny Judge Would Relax Rule on Pictures

Pittsburgh (AP) — An Allegheny County court judge favors relaxing of court restrictions against the use of cameras and recording devices in news coverage of trials.

Judge John G. Brosky said on a Pittsburgh radio station KDKA last night that the real test should be whether these devices disturb or interfere with the orderliness of a trial.

However, he said he would first clear the matter with the president judge of the court before allowing cameras or recorders in his courtroom.

Boy Choir Summer Camp To Be Held at Chautauqua Inst.

Officials of the Warren Boy Choir of Pennsylvania revealed this morning that arrangements have been completed with Chautauqua Institution whereby the local choir will hold its summer camp at Chautauqua for a three week period starting June 22nd and ending July 13.

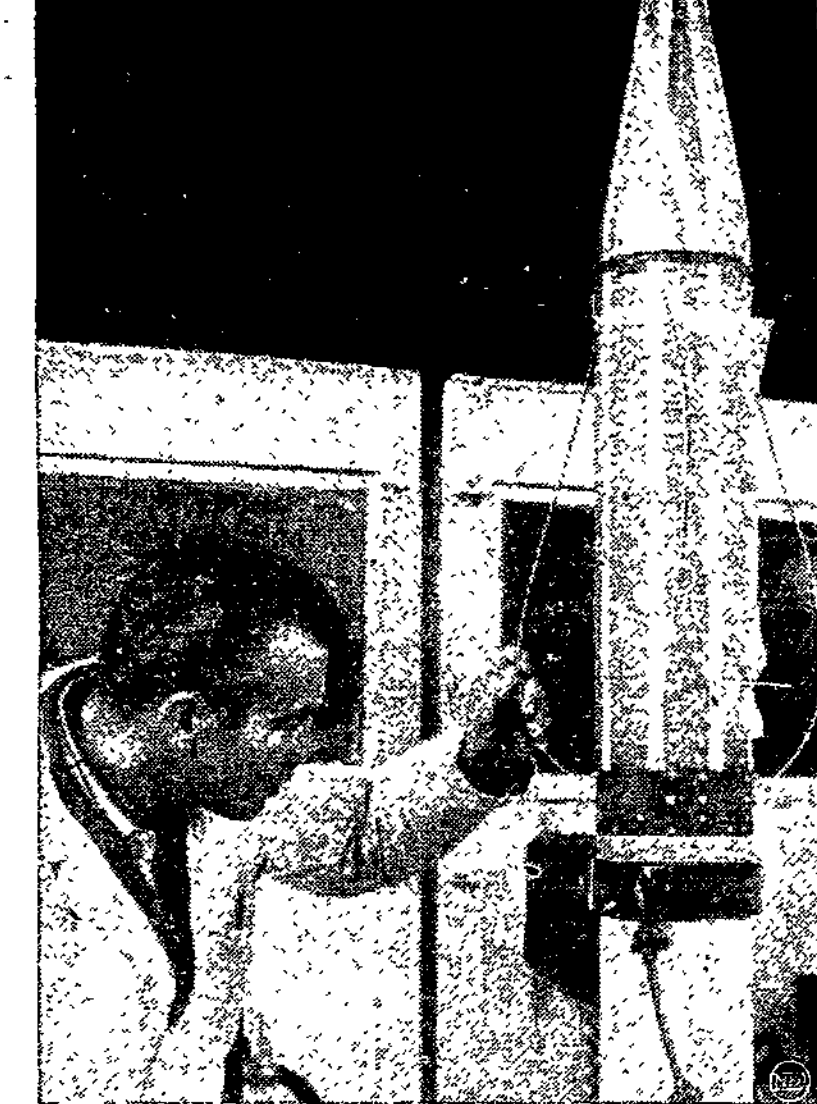

As part of its summer residency the Warren group will present two public amphitheater concerts during the season under the direction of Byron L. Swanson. The choir boys will live in the buildings formerly occupied by the Columbus boychoir which is not returning to the Institution.

John Mallory, Boy Choir Board president, announced that the summer camp will be opened to non-resident boys who wish to spend three weeks with the Choir at Chautauqua enjoying the usual camp thrills while receiving musical instruction.

Details concerning the summer program are not yet complete, but it was learned that at least 100 boys can be accommodated at the Chautauqua barracks and invitations to area youths will be extended.

Sharon Woman Will Introduce New Soup in House Restaurant

Washington (AP)—Mrs. Helen Monoc, Sharon, Pa., potato soup stylist, made ready today to give out with the cry: "Soup's on!"

The scene: the U. S. House of Representatives dining room.

The act: to demonstrate that her home-made soup, fashioned so many times at the Shenango Inn at Sharon, is worthy of being added to the House dining-room menu.

Mrs. Monoc flew here yesterday as the guest of Rep. Kearns (R-Pa.).

It was Kearns who drew attention to the soup some weeks ago. He intends introducing a resolution in the House to permit it to be put on the menu.

Kearns and Mrs. Monoc report they have received letters from all over the nation since Kearns first made his proposal to put the potato on the menu.

Mrs. Monoc's specialty is brewed from Pennsylvania potatoes which just happen to grow in abundance in Kearns' congressional district.

She said she had brought none of the home-grown spuds with her—nor any special kitchen utensils.

"But I brought my uniform," she said, "and I will direct the cooking."

She said she was disappointed that a previous test of her recipe by the house kitchen staff was reported to be something less than spectacular.

So for that reason, she said, she wanted to be on hand to add a little salt or any other necessary ingredients if today's batch of soup did not meet with her approval.

The dining room staff was ready to advance with all the prescribed ingredients and announced its willingness to cooperate with the visiting chef.

It was reported there were those with fears that the potato soup was being groomed to take place of the capitol's traditional bean soup. But Kearns maintained there is room for both.

VITAL QUESTION FOR PANEL IS WHETHER DEATH WAS AN ACCIDENT OR PREMEDITATED

By BEN DE FOREST

Franklin (AP)—Murder charges against Mrs. Lydia Dean, 22-year-old Filipino mother accused of slaying her husband, were given to a jury for deliberation on a verdict at 10:53 a. m. today.

Judge Lee McCracken told the jury of seven men and five women they may find Mrs. Dean innocent; or may convict her of:

- 1—First degree murder, fixing the penalty at death in the electric chair.
- 2—Second degree murder, fixing the penalty of life imprisonment.
- 3—Second degree murder, carrying a maximum sentence of 20-years imprisonment and a $10,000 fine.
- 4—Voluntary manslaughter, for which the maximum penalty is 12 years imprisonment.

Judge McCracken had devoted more than an hour to his charge, summarizing briefly the principal evidence of the prosecution and defense and outlining the law and the possible verdicts. He told the panel that under Pennsylvania law:

"It is the duty of the jury to give the benefit of any reasonable doubt to the defendant. A reasonable doubt is one that arises in your head, not in your heart."

Pennsylvania law also specifies that the members of the jury must agree unanimously on whatever verdict they report.

The judge did not recommend any verdict, nor did he rule out any of the possibilities although Dist. Atty. Robert Grannis had told the jury yesterday the state is not seeking the death penalty.

There is no limit on how long the jury may deliberate.

The members of the panel, all of them parents as is Mrs. Dean, were taken immediately to their jury room to begin deliberations. A court attendant said that in the event a verdict is not reached immediately the panel would deliberate until noon, then go to lunch before resuming talks.

Mrs. Dean sat almost immobile, like a black-clad statue looking downward at the floor, throughout the judge's charge. She has maintained that attitude steadily since the trial began a week ago yesterday, except for the long sessions on the witness stand while she sobbed out her story of the shooting last Dec. 7.

A vital question for the jury will be whether the shooting was accidental, as Mrs. Dean said, or "planned and premeditated" as charged by the commonwealth.

Monday's sessions were devoted to closing arguments by counsel for the defense and prosecution. At 4 p. m. Judge McCracken announced a surprise recess and his decision to charge the jury today.

Both sides stressed the one key question: Was the shooting of Air Force Sgt. Ronald Dean, 29, accidental or premeditated?

"We think we have proven a case of accidental shooting and the defendant should be acquitted," said defense counsel Estanislao Fernandez.

Dist. Atty. Robert Grannis argued that "this was a premeditated killing." And he said the commonwealth "rejects, strongly, emphatically and completely" the contention the shooting was accidental.

Grannis said the commonwealth does not seek the death penalty. The state charged Mrs. Dean, 22-year-old native of the Philippines, murdered her husband with an old rifle as he lay on a couch in the home of his parents near Pleasantville, Pa. Testimony indicated Dean wanted to divorce Lydia to marry a girl he met during a recent 17-month tour of duty in England.

Lydia testified she wanted Dean to kill her with the rifle to end their marital difficulties but that

500 Reservations Made for C. of C. Dinner Wednesday

Reservations totalling 500 have been made for the annual Chamber of Commerce banquet tomorrow evening at 6:30 in Beatty Cafeteria which will feature an address by Dr. Murray Banks, New York psychologist whose topic will be "what to do until the psychiatrist comes."

Following a roast beef dinner toastmaster William Rice will introduce the 1958 Chamber Board of Directors and the new president William R. Walker. Retiring president Paul Harrington will also be honored. Members of SPESQUA will provide musical entertainment prior to the main speaker.

The Chamber committee planning the event includes Robert Marlin, chairman; Robert Daye, Gail Cobb, Creed Erickson, Hugh Mohney, Meyer Kornreich, James Valone, Russell Dietrich, Jack Lesser, Dr. Raymond Lowe, and Robert Anstadt.

Retailers Committee Honors Member Active for 31 Years

William H. Cannon, manager of Brown's Boot Shop, was honored last night at the monthly meeting of the Retailers Committee of the Chamber of Commerce as he completed 31 years as a member of this merchants group. Mr. Cannon served on the retailers committee in 1927 and has been an active member each year except one when ill health limited his activities.

During this period the well known merchant has served as chairman of the group and as a member of various sub committees concerned with store hours, sales promotion, etc. In 1927 Emory Cook was executive secretary of the Chamber and Mr. Cannon has since been associated in Chamber work with Merle Boutwell, H. Correll, Frank Kottcamp, Nat Drake, and the present executive vice president, Charles Tranter.

Mr. Cannon is not eligible for reelection to the Retailers Committee this year but will continue to be an active interested merchant taking part in community events.

Last night's session was the last meeting for the 1957 committee. Election of the 1958 executive committee will take place later this month when 20 retailers will be selected by mail ballot to represent the various types of business on the committee.

Jaycee Ambassador Committee Is Still Seeking Candidates

The Jaycee Community Ambassador Project goes into its third week—still on the lookout for any likely candidate to accept a six weeks' trip to a foreign country. So far only four qualified candidates have applied.

Dave Swanson, Jaycee project chairman, urges any young county resident, who is interested, to hurry up and send in their applications. To qualify an applicant must be between the ages of sixteen and thirty, a resident of Warren County for at least a year, and the equivalent of a high school senior by September, 1958. They must also be available until June of 1959 to report on his or her experiences. A 150-word essay on why they would be a good Community Ambassador also has to be written.

It's easy to apply—just obtain an application blank by writing to Warren Jaycee Community Ambassador Project, Box 147, Warren. Please enclose name, address, telephone number. Applications should be submitted by March 1. A personal screening interview will take place later.

This is certainly a great opportunity for some lucky Warren or Warren County youth. The Ambassador may go to any chosen country for six weeks—and remember, this is absolutely free to the lucky person chosen.

This project is financed by the many individuals and organizations throughout Warren and Warren County.

Property Owners at the Swick Site Negotiate With Directors

Two of the smaller land owners at the "Swick site" have agreed to terms, Warren Borough School Board members were told last night.

It was also reported that an attorney for a third of the five property owners has scheduled a meeting for this Friday with the Building and Grounds Committee. A fourth party is reportedly seeking another meeting through its attorney.

Borough Board members were informed that Warren's share of architect and land costs would come to approximately $66,000, but they delayed approving payment of the sum until a later meeting. Architects' fees will come to $30,427, the Borough's share of land costs is estimated at $36,123 (Warren pays approximately 60 percent).

In other matters, members discussed briefly a plan to bring together exceptional fifth or sixth grade students several times a year for various projects in science, arts, music and speech. Grades must be up so the child will not lag for spending an afternoon away from regular studies.

The Board met at Jefferson Street School permitting several PTA members who "braved the elements" to attend. Mrs. Lyle Rulander, Community PTA Council president, thanked the Board for its consideration and School Board President Melvin G. Keller welcomed the guests. Earlier, Board members had met with Mrs. Helen Laumstein who outlined first grade reading instruction. The Board approved bills of $139,000 for December and January. The sum included mainly:

Forest Industries Committee Elects A New Treasurer

Washington (Special)—George F. Patterson, treasurer of Patterson Lumber Co. Inc., Wellsboro, Pa., has been named 1956 chairman of the Pennsylvania Forest Industries Committee.

He succeeds E. O. Ehrhart, president of Armstrong Forest Co., Johnsonburg, who has headed the PFIC since its organization in 1953. The change was announced by John B. Veach, president of American Forest Products Industries, of Washington, D. C. parent organization of the Keystone group.

The PFIC, representing major wood dependent industries of the commonwealth, sponsors the American Tree Farm System in the state and carries on other forestry and industry educational programs.

Mr. Patterson, a 1928 graduate of Penn State College, has long been active in civic and industrial organizations of Wellsboro and the state. He is now president of both the Wellsboro and Tioga County school boards, and a member of the Wellsboro Industrial Commission, the Chamber of Commerce and the Pennsylvania Society. He is a past president of the Wellsboro Rotary Club and a past master of Ossea Lodge of Masons.

As chairman of the PFIC, Mr. Patterson also becomes a member of AFPI's National Advisory Committee, which meets annually in Washington to review the organization's broad programs of forest management and forestry education.

Other members of the committee include: Ray F. Bower, Hammermill Paper Co., Erie; A. J. Diebold, Jr., Forest Lumber Co., Pittsburgh; John E. DuBois, Green Glen Co., Inc., DuBois; James L. Elliott, Elliott Lumber Co., Coudersport; William L. Faulk, Jr., Hardes Lumber Corp., Bradford; R. J. Gustafson, Endeavor Lumber Co., Endeavor; Edward A. Pontzer, Corbett Cabinet Co., St. Marys.

Reservations should be made on or before Monday noon, February 10 by calling Robert Hedrick at 3475-R.

Local Seaman Takes Part In "Mission of Mercy"

Navy news dispatches from Colombo, Ceylon, report that Paul T. Robillard, son of Mrs. Catharine Robillard of Fourth avenue, serving as a seaman aboard the seaplane tender USS Duxbury Bay, recently took part in a "mission of mercy" with the Ceylonese Relief Force.

The dispatch states the Ceylon emergency followed continual rain for many weeks, climaxed by torrential downpours. It was learned 100,000 homes were destroyed by floods, leaving approximately 300,000 homeless victims.

In answer to the Ceylon government's urgent request, the Duxbury Bay was called upon to deliver food packages and medical supplies to the thousands of marooned people and to rescue stranded victims.

ERIE THRUWAY

A dispatch from Harrisburg says the State Highways Dept. expects to advertise for bids within the next two weeks for construction of six sections of the Erie Thruway. A department spokesman said yesterday that bids for four sections already have been let. Plans for three more sections are about ready for final approval, he said. The thruway will run 46 miles across northern Erie County from the New York line to Ohio. Work has been started on a 12-mile section of the road.

VIGILANCE

The final victory over cancer will come from the research laboratory.

But there is a more immediate victory at hand today. Many cancers can be cured when detected early and treated promptly. Vigilance is the key to this victory.

There are certain signs which might mean cancer. Vigilance in heeding these danger signals could mean victory over cancer for you:

1. Unusual bleeding or discharge.
2. A lump or thickening in the breast or elsewhere.
3. A sore that does not heal.
4. Change in bowel or bladder habits.
5. Hoarseness or cough.
6. Indigestion or difficulty in swallowing.
7. Change in a wart or mole.

If your signal lasts longer than two weeks, go to your doctor to learn if it means cancer.

AMERICAN CANCER SOCIETY

WANTED BY THE FBI

GEORGE EDWARD COLE

A complaint was filed before a United States Commissioner at San Francisco, Calif., on January 9, 1957, charging George Edward Cole with violation of the Unlawful Flight to Avoid Prosecution Statute in that he fled from the State of California to avoid prosecution after allegedly murdering a police officer.

Cole is described as follows: Born, March 24, 1927, Philadelphia, Pa. Height, 6 feet 1 inch. Weight, 160 to 178 pounds. Build, medium. Hair, brown, receding. Eyes, brown. Complexion, medium. Race, white. Nationality, American. Occupations: bus driver, truck driver, typist. Scars and marks: pit scar on outside corner of right eye, small cut scar on inside of left wrist, appendectomy scar, tattoo, small heart and names "Wm" and "Dad" and letters "GP" or "SP" on left forearm; tattoo, 8-point star on back of left hand. He wears full upper denture.

Cole has previously been convicted of grand larceny and robbery. He reportedly has stated that he will shoot any police officer attempting to apprehend him. Cole is considered armed and dangerous.

Any person having information which might assist in locating this fugitive is requested to immediately notify the Director of the Federal Bureau of Investigation, United States Department of Justice, Washington 25, D. Local Industrialist Gives His Views on Proposed Kinzua Dam

Mr. Ed C. Lowrey, Editor
Warren Times-Mirror
Warren, Pennsylvania

Dear Ed:

I hesitate to add my voice to the current controversy regarding the Kinzua Dam since, unlike some of the participants in this argument, I do not possess the background of engineering knowledge to evaluate the scheme on the basis of its merits as a flood control measure.

In the past many persons have come forward to offer their support for, or to take issue with the Indians, the sportsmen, the recreationalists, the Pittsburgh Industrialists and, last but not least, the local residents whose properties are subject to flooding. Since I have no direct interest which would align me with any of these groups, I find it difficult to harbor any extreme feelings regarding the proposed dam and the reservoir which it would create. However, it is my opinion that the largest and most important group of citizens has been overlooked to date and, for this reason, I am writing to offer my views as to the best interests of this group, of which I am a member.

The group to which I refer is the tax paying public which must ultimately provide the full amount of money necessary for the project in question. These seems to be an impression among some proponents of the dam that the funds are available in Washington at no real cost to the citizens of our area and that if we do not demand that these funds be spent in the Allegheny Valley they will simply be dissipated elsewhere with no direct benefits accruing to the people of Warren, Pennsylvania. This type of thinking is, of course, erroneous and is the same philosophy employed to justify any other "pork barrel" project which local interests demand of Congress.

The expenditure involved for the construction of the Kinzua Dam and the purchase of land for its reservoir has been variously estimated at between $100,000,000 and $150,000,000. Considering the current trend towards rising costs and the tendency of government projects to exceed their estimates, any prudent man would use the higher figure. This, by any standard, is a staggering sum and it must be financed by taxes—your taxes, my taxes, and everybody else's taxes. If we would view the matter not so much as residents of the Allegheny Valley, but as tax paying citizens of our country, I believe that we would be forced to conclude that this expenditure cannot be justified. No one can expect the Government to authorize such an outlay for his own area and still in good conscience oppose similar projects in other parts of the country. If unrestrained government expenditures of this nature are encouraged, the result for all of us can only be even more oppressive taxation than we are now experiencing. Most responsible citizens view the expenditures of government as necessary evils, particularly when such a large portion of our tax dollars must be spent on defense. Therefore, any action should be opposed which increases the costs of government without commensurate benefits to the tax paying public.

This leads us, of course, to the subject of benefits. I do not deny that periodic floods pose a threat to our area and result in hardships to local people, but it should be pointed out that the harnessing of the Allegheny River will cure only part of the menace from flooding in Warren and other communities in the valley and it is on this basis that we should evaluate the cost of the Kinzua Dam. Thus, I pose the question, is this the best way to spend $150,000,000 of the taxpayers' hard earned money?

Assuming for a moment that the money were readily available and that it was to be spent for the benefit of our area, isn't it possible to think of many projects which are much worthier? For example, the cost of the yearly toll of traffic accidents in our area is far in excess of the cost of occasional sieges of high water, both in terms of personal injury and property damage. An expenditure of public funds similar in magnitude to that contemplated for the Kinzua Dam would eliminate the cause of antiquated and overloaded highways in this region and reap rich rewards in terms of improved highway transportation and reduction of accidents.

It is almost trite to say that we cannot expect everything from government, but I believe that many who favor construction of the Kinzua Dam are expecting just that. I can think of many other things which would be of far greater usefulness to the people of northwestern Pennsylvania, but it seems to me the central question should be how heavily are we willing to burden ourselves with taxes.

Yours very truly,
HARRY A. LOGAN, JR.

JACOBY ON BRIDGE

DUPLICATE PLAY HAS DIFFERENCE

By OSWALD JACOBY
Written for NEA Service

Today's hand taken from the recent National Championships shows the difference between rubber bridge and duplicate play.

All South players chose to open one no-trump rather than one spade and all North players raised to three.

West would open his fourth best heart and South would gather in the trick with the ten. At this point correct rubber bridge tactics would be to go right after the five card spade suit and those declarers who did that would wind up making four no-trump. Those who wanted better things simply led a diamond at trick two and finessed dummy's ten.

The way the cards lay this forced East's ace but it didn't really matter too much if it lost to the jack. The point is that East invariably led back his fourth best spade. South allowed this to ride around to dummy's nine and West would be in with the jack. Now

South would make four spade tricks instead of three and would wind up with five, no-trump instead of four.

Of course if East had decided to lead something other than a spade South would probably have made four odd only and it also should be noted that South could have played the spades himself and made four spade tricks but that would practically require clairvoyance while once East was persuaded to break the spade suit, all South needed was normal play.

MAN OF WAR—Gazing fondly at one of his favorite pipes, Gen. Chaim Laskov, newly appointed Israeli army chief of staff, is pictured in his home town in Tel Aviv. Born in Russia, 38-year-old Laskov moved to Israel in 1925. During World War II, from 1941 to 1946, he served in the British army and rose to the rank of major. As successor to Gen. Moshe Dayan as Israel's top fighting man, Laskov will probably have less time for his hobbies—collecting pipes and dachows.

GRANGE MISLED ON KINZUA DAM

From the Salamanca Republican - Press:

From the office of the "Director of Publicity, State Grange News," comes the surprising statement that "the National Grange adopted this position on the controversial subject" of the Kinzua dam, involving the flooding of part of the Allegheny Indian reservation.

"The Grange believes that in satisfying the want or needs of the nation as a whole or of the majority, there shall be no ruthless trampling underfoot of the minorities, but that rights and equities should be recognized, appraised and compensated for in any public condemnation or appropriation of lands or values. This principle should apply when the lands of Indian reservations are inundated by dams or otherwise taken by exercise of the power of eminent domain."

With the above broad statement in opposition to tramping on rights of minorities, and compensating those whose property is taken by the government through exercise of the power of eminent domain, the great majority of the people of this country, we believe, are in hearty accord. Certainly that is the feeling in the Allegheny valley.

It is unfortunate that so influential an organization as the Grange should be put in the position, as it has by the state director of publicity, of charging by implication that the United States government has departed or intends to depart from these principles in the case of the Kinzua dam.

Such is not the fact. On the contrary, from the very inception of the Kinzua dam project, the Army Engineers have recommended recognition of rights and equities, and appraisal of and just compensation for any and all properties taken under the right of eminent domain. This has been held applicable specifically in the case of the Indian reservation lands, in official reports to Congress by the Army Engineers by the head of the Pittsburgh district of the Army Engineers in speaking before public assemblages and in court proceedings.

If Grangers have been led to believe otherwise, somebody must have been pulling wool over their eyes.

AMERICAN HISTORY MONTH

A news release from the National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, in Washington, D. C., and passed on to us by Mrs. Harry J. Granquist, press chairman of General Joseph Warren Chapter, says a national observance of February as American History Month is urged by Mrs. Fredric A. Groves, President General of the organization.

"Our present interest in the development of science in the United States," Mrs. Groves declares, "should not blind us to the need for continuing the study of merican history. Scientists, like other citizens, should be motivated by love or our country under God, and that love is best developed through a study of the history of this country."

Evidence of an increasing interest in American history in the public schools is constantly reaching the office of the Historian General, National Society, Daughters of the American Revolution, according to Mrs. Lowell E. Burnelle of Glouster, Ohio, Historian General.

"We are receiving a constantly increasing demand from local D. A. R. chapters for history certificates and history medals to be awarded pupils from the fourth grade through high schools," Mrs. Burnelle says.

"This increase reflects a more intensive study of American history by our schoolchildren."

Mrs. Burnelle declares that the most recent special project of the Historian General's office—the James Monroe Essay contest—is also meeting with considerable success.

An item in another page conveys the information that Senior Major Bernard Flinn, Salvation Army Corps officer at Greensburg, has been promoted to the rank of Brigadier, which will be learned with genuine satisfaction by many in this community who will recall the commendable work he and his good wife performed while in Warren from 1936 to 1942, when he was transferred to DuBois.

Here and There

On January 26, 1898, battleship Maine was received in Havana Harbor "with every courtesy," as explained in a story in the Warren Mirror. . . . The commanders of the German and Spanish ships of war in the harbor had called upon the commander of the Maine, who had returned their calls; the Spanish forts had fired salutes and all the ceremonies called for by naval etiquette had been observed. . . . Twenty days later, the battleship was blown to bits in the harbor. A more complete follow-up of the disaster will be carried by this paper in February.

Warren Mirror, 1898—"We are having an old-fashioned winter this year. It is a mild, open winter. If we were having a cold, snowy, blustering, horrible winter, we should be having an old-fashioned winter, too. All winters are old-fashioned. Open a file of an old newspaper, and the chances are 10 to 1 that you find a paragraph about pansies in bloom in January. However, if you have the curiosity to look up the next winter's weather in the same old file, you will find accounts of snow banks 20 feet deep. Very likely you will find them the same winter. Taking one year with another, the meteorological interest never flags in this latitude. Taking one year with itself, it never flags either. comments the Boston Transcript. There is time enough on the calendar to enable the present winter to procure for itself a record of unusual violence, unprecedented depth of snow, unheard-of lowness of mercury and general extreme old-fashionedness. Then the mild December and early January would be forgotten. Few people ever remember a season as it actually was; they pick out the salient, the extreme things, particularly the cold and snow, and forget the rest. Just so the average boy remembers his whippings and forgets his caresses. In the piece-meal thing that man calls his mind, severity in weather and in manners becomes old-fashioned. But gentle and indulgent parents are just as old-fashioned as mild winter weather."

There are many among our readers who will be interested to learn that Joseph Riesenman, Jr., recipient of the Outstanding Citizen Award at Franklin a week ago, recently was involved in an accident that almost terminated the life of this colorful and enthusiastic resident of the Venango County seat. Acknowledging a letter of congratulations sent him Mr. Riesenman says: "Since I suffered a near fatal accident about three months ago from which I am not recovering, my activity has been much restricted. I was subjected to great pressure to attend the meeting and finally promised to do so. I had an idea that they wanted me there as the present oldest living past president of the Chamber of Commerce and the real purpose came as a complete surprise. Now that I am so seriously handicapped, it will make me very unhappy that I shall not be able to carry on as in the past but I shall try to do the best I can. I am thankful for one thing; I have finally succeeded in founding the Venango County Historical Society and I am surprised by the manner in which the membership is building up. We have members now in all parts of our state, in Virginia, Ohio, Florida, California, Texas, Missouri and District of Columbia. Persons interested in history recognize the great importance of the pre-colonial and early colonial history of this area."

Postmaster General Arthur E. Summerfield has announced a change in the issuance date for The Universal and International Exhibition of Brussels stamp. The commemorative will be released at Detroit, Michigan, on April 17, 1958, instead of April 15, to conform to the revised opening date of the great Belgian Exhibition.

H-Bomb Energy Press Pow-Wow Wows Reporters

BY PETER EDSON

NEA Washington Correspondent

WASHINGTON—(NEA)—That two-hour press conference—when the Atomic Energy Commission announced progress in developing power from the hydrogen bomb reaction—was the darndest thing since Henry Wallace tried to explain the principles of the Progressive party back in 1948.

All the scientific news has now been milked out of it. But the memory lingers. It just shows you what the newspaper business is coming to in the next thermo-nuclear age of man.

Get the picture. Here was AEC Chairman Lewis Strauss. He was surrounded by a score of the top scientists brought in from Los Alamos, N.M., Livermore, Calif., and Princeton, N.J.

FACING THEM—nearly 100 reporters. The old rule in this business was that you never sent a reporter on a story if he knew anything about it. For if he knew anything about it he would write an "expert" story that none of the readers could understand.

All that's changed now. And the questions these science reporters can ask are harder to understand than the answers.

In what AEC people said later was the most hostile press conference in their hallowed halls and memory, reporters beat the chairman over the head on the two questions they could all understand.

(A) Was this a scientific breakthrough that was being announced? and (B) Were the British scientists ahead of the American scientists on discovering what was in their joint report?

DOGGEDLY, STRAUSS TRIED to maintain that this was no breakthrough. It was just a major step forward. This wasn't a horse race, he insisted. But then he said the teams were neck and neck. They had pushed up release just to satisfy the press.

"We didn't want to scoop each other," he explained. "But quite apparently you won't let us have that." And later: "What can I do? I am at your mercy. You gentlemen make the public impression. I can't do anything about it." But he finally got away with the parting, "I really am enjoying this." Oh yes!

What followed in the last half of the conference was so technical that it was "way over the head of this old timer."

For instance, what do you do with a release headed: "Magnetic Measurement of Plasma Confinement in a Partially Stabilized Nuclear Pinch." Translate that into car-hop English!

The guy who came the closest to doing it in this historic press conference was a bushy-haired giant of a British-born, but now naturalized, scientist from Los Alamos. He was Dr. James Leslie Tuck. He smoked a huge Sherlock Holmes pipe and he spoke with the soft accents of a child's physician.

"IT IS DELICATE to explain these things to a non-technical audience," he began. "To make a thermo-nuclear reaction is man's attempt to do something highly unnatural. The problem is remarkably like this:

"Pretend that the gas is mercury. And pretend that the magnetic field (holding the gas) is rubber bands. You are trying to hold the mercury with slippery rubber bands and the mercury slips between. "In our case, we are trying to put in stabilizing devices which stop the mercury from slipping through the rubber bands."

"There is a bonus we all look for," Dr. Tuck explained later on. "The moment you produce magnetic confinement of plasmas, you are practically half way to a dynamo. And dynamos are normally things that convert energy into electricity."

Okay. Thermo-nuclear, or fusion power is as simple as that. Some sweet day, you may be able to brew your coffee with it.

Deaf Man Perfects Cordless Hearing Aid

Worn Entirely on One Ear

PEORIA, ILL. (Special)—H. A. Lyons, who himself has been hard of hearing for over 25 years, today announced the perfection of a miniature electronic hearing aid that is so small it is all worn on one ear. It weighs but a fraction of an ounce and can be slipped on and off easier than a pair of eye glasses. Wearer gets all-directional pick-up and normal use of telephone. There is no clothing interference because it is worn at the ear, which is the natural way to hear. Since the aid is tiny and is worn tucked behind the ear, it is practically invisible. Mr. Lyons stated that, although it is powerful enough to fit the most severe hearing loss, it can also be adjusted for the millions of slightly hard of hearing who feel they are not deaf enough to bother with the more cumbersome aids. It is suggested, if interested for yourself or a friend, to write to Tonemaster Manufacturing Company, 128 South Monroe Street, Dept. B-1, Peoria, Illinois, and he will be glad to send information at no cost or obligation to you.—Adv.

Kofod's Studio Is Now Open For Business in New Location

John Kofod, one of Warren's finest photographers, this week officially opened his new studio in quarters commensurate with his photographic skill.

Kofod's Studio is now located in what was the Dr. Haines residence, 106 Pennsylvania Avenue West, approximately one block east of the former studio location.

Photographer Kofod, a veteran of a dozen years in the photography field, has announced that he will no longer deal in supplies for amateur shutterbugs. Instead, his new studio will be devoted exclusively to portrait, wedding, commercial and illustrative photography.

It is pointed out that the new location will provide ample parking facilities, plus reception, powder and dressing rooms for more convenience and privacy of wedding parties. The new studio also boasts the latest photographic equipment.

This studio culminates a long desire of Kofod's to own his own premises. He opened on Hickory Street just after the war, moved over Kinnears for five years and had spent six years beside Angove's Market before this final move into the family residence.

Kofod, a native of Warwick, N. Y., moved to this community at the age of five and later graduated from Warren High School. He lived from Warren High School. He lived Mrs. O. R. Pang on St. Clair Street before marrying Lucille Peterson and moving to Irvine where the family stayed about 20 years. The Kofod's have two daughters, DeJores, now Mrs. Ronald Hendrickson of Youngsville, and Barbara, a sophomore at Warren High School.

Is Now Brigadier Flinn

Friends of Senior Major Bernard Flinn, Salvation Army Corps officer at Greensburg and formerly of Warren, will be happy to learn he has been promoted to the rank of Brigadier. An announcement to this effect from Lt. Col. Paul D. Seiler, western Pennsylvania divisional commander, credits the advance to "recognition for outstanding service and dedication to the cause of God and the Salvation Army in its program to humanity."

Brigadier Flinn has given 42 years of active service as a commissioned officer of the Salvation Army, his first appointments from the New York Training School taking him to New Kensington in July, 1915. He was born in Parkersburg, W. Va., moved to Wilkinsburg at the age of four and lived there until he entered the Training School in 1914.

Serving at Connellsville and in Moundsville, W. Va., he was promoted to captain and sent to New Castle as commanding officer in 1917. Later, he served units in Washington, Pa.; Charleston and Wheeling, W. Va.; Cory, Indiana, Meadville, Back to Washington, Butler, Oil City and Erie. He was promoted to major in 1935, served in Warren from 1936 to 1942, when he went to DuBois. Since then, he has been in Pittsburgh, Greenville, Tarentum and Greensburg.

He and Mrs. Flinn have two children, Captain Robert Flinn, stationed at Pottstown, and Lt. Betty Flinn, in Greenville.

Teen-Age Club for Sugar-Grove to be Discussed Feb. 7th

Sugar Grove—After several preliminary sessions to lay the groundwork, a meeting has been scheduled in the school auditorium at 7:00 p. m. Saturday, February 8, when all parents of children of grades 7 to 12 are invited to be present to discuss plans for organization of a teen-age club.

A committee from Sugar Grove Volunteer Fire Department, Richard Hiles, David Wright and Scott Stuart, Jr., has been working on the project, with the assistance of parents. All borough and township parents are urged to cooperate and attend this planning meeting.

The Firemen's Auxiliary here sponsored the 1958 March of Dimes canvass on Thursday, Mrs. Scott Stuart, Jr., reporting $137.25 and additional canvassers still to report.

Your money and your bank

Based on "USING YOUR BANK" By Dr. George L. Lefler Professor of Finance, The Pennsylvania State University

Americans are becoming increasingly thrifty as evidenced by the $87.5 billion in savings on deposit in U.S. banks at the close of 1957. This year-end figure shows a 9% increase in savings over 1956.

This money is deposited in one of five kinds of savings accounts: individual, joint, school, fiduciary, or one of the many kinds of special savings accounts.

The first, the individual savings account, is the most common and is simply the savings of a person deposited in his or her own name. The joint account is used by two or more persons. It is generally used by a husband and wife who own the account together. Either person may make deposits or withdrawals and if one dies, the balance becomes the property of the survivor. School savings accounts are small accounts opened by school children. The fiduciary accounts are opened by a legal trustee or simply "in trust" for another person. The person named receives the money upon the depositor's death. The special accounts are designed to help depositors save for a specific purpose—marriage, a new home, college education for children, a new car, etc.

Banks pay interest on all these types of savings accounts. Maximum limits on interest rates are imposed by the Pennsylvania Department of Banking.

Scholarship Recipients

In conjunction with the second annual Scholarship Fund dessert-cord party to be held in Beatty Junior High School cafeteria at 7:00 p. m. Wednesday, the WEA-PTA committee pictures recipients of the first awards made last year. Margaret Bailey, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Richard Bailey of Clarendon RD 1, is majoring in home economics education at Mansfield State Teachers' College; Lambert Fitzgerald, son of Mrs. Elvera Johnson of 307 Pennsylvania avenue, west, is enrolled in secondary education at Edinboro State Teachers' College, majoring in biology. Both were graduated from Warren High in June, 1957.

CALVARY BAPTIST CHURCH ACTIVITIES

To conclude Youth Week in Calvary Baptist parish, the young people participated in both Sunday worship services. Richard Thompson gave the scripture and prayer in the morning; Ben Obinger sang a selection. Preceding the film at the evening service, Don McKelvey was in charge. Kay Holmberg gave the scripture, Psalm 139 from memory, and a vocal quartet was composed of Karen Hagstrom, Sharon and Ben Obinger and Dick Swanson.

This is Missionary Week in the parish, with the women's circles meeting at the church this evening, and a Missionary Conference held Thursday and Friday evenings. Marwin Linstedt, missionary to the Philippines, will be speaking Thursday evening; Dale York of Japan, on Friday. These meetings both are at 7:45 p. m.

The regular Wednesday evening Bible Study and prayer has been canceled, but the Saturday Prayer Revival will be held as usual.

WOMAN'S CLUB HAS TALK BY AMBASSADOR

At the February meeting of the Woman's Club Community Service Department Monday afternoon, Miss Dawn Taft, Jaycee Youth Ambassador, captivated her audience with her colorful description of her travels to Switzerland last summer.

Her colored slides were beautiful and her informative commentary was most interesting. As this is the time when the 1958 ambassador is about to be nominated, members were urged to support the program which makes it possible to have such capable speakers in our midst.

Mrs. John O'Hara, of the Drama Department, announced Mrs. William Wright will direct reading of a play next Monday afternoon.

Mrs. J. W. A. Luce was hostess for tea, with Mrs. Harland Rue and Mrs. Louis Bosse pouring.

MARCONI BRIDGE CLUB WINNERS

Nine tables were in play for a Mitchell movement in last night's Marconi Bridge Club tournament, the monthly Master Point game, and average in both areas was 108. Top scores were recorded as follows:

North-South—M. A. Kornreich and D. A. Scallie, 128½; D. L. Vetter and James R. Valone, 127; Mrs. Helen Rockwell and Hal Conarro, 120½; A. J. Bova and Joseph A. Scallie, 120.

East-West—Mrs. Shuri Glass and Sylvester Mullen, 135; Dr. R. H. Israel and Henry Hunzinger, 128; Mr. and Mrs. D. E. Conaway, 115½; Al Lorange and Anthony J. Scallie, 113½.

BPW DINNER-MEETING

The February meeting of Warren Business and Professional Women's Club will be held at 6:00 p. m. next Tuesday, February 11, in the YWCA cafeteria, with the Rev. C. W. Baldwin, of Grace Methodist church, as guest speaker. Those unable to attend are reminded standing dinner reservations must be canceled no later than Monday morning by calling Ellen Courtney, 1315-R.

MISSIONARY EVENT

The Nazarene Missionary Society, meeting in the church chapel at 7:45 p. m. Wednesday, will have an Alabaster Box opening. Celebrating the golden anniversary of the founding of the Nazarene movement, special emphasis is laid on "alabaster giving".

SORORITY CHAPTER

A special meeting of Epsilon Epsilon Chapter, Beta Sigma Phi Sorority, will be held at 8:00 p. m. Wednesday at the home of Mrs. Robert Wheatall, 307 Lincoln avenue. Mrs. Robert Simpson will be in charge of the program and all members are urged to be in attendance.

PLEASANT SCOUTS PLAN SKATING PARTY

Pleasant Girl Scouts and Brownies, with their parents and friends, will enjoy a skating party Saturday evening at the Sheffield rink. Seventh and eighth grade girls of Troop 51, their parents and friends, will be guests at the Penlee building Thursday evening, when the girls will receive certificates for cooking classes they attended during the Christmas holidays.

This group of girls, working on First Class badges, had as guest at their regular meeting last week Dr. David Rice, Starbuck veterinarian, who gave them much information and answered questions for their animal badge. The girls are also working on a skating badge, with Mrs. Janice Hoffman Aeklin, former Girl Scout and assistant leader, giving the necessary training.

BOY CHOIR OUTING

About 25 members of Warren Boy Choir enjoyed a delightful outing Saturday afternoon at the home of David Engstrom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Arthur Engstrom, Jr., of Chancellors Valley.

After a wonderful ride with a team and bobsleds, the group enjoyed an hour of sledding on Brown Hill, after which indoor games provided amusement and Mrs. Engstrom served a fine lunch.

LUTHERAN SOCIETY

The Edith Franzen Missionary Society of Saron Lutheran church of Youngsville will be entertained at 8:00 p. m. Thursday at the home of Mrs. Lois Gustafson.

tended in the next month. Last summer the Warren Boy Choir held its summer camp at Camp Complanter.

Meanwhile, negotiations are continuing with a major New York concert management firm for management of the choir next season. It is expected that contracts will be signed within a few days leading to an extended concert tour in the fall of 1958 and spring of 1959.

Arrangements for the Chautauqua summer camp were made recently at a meeting at the Institution. Representing Chautauqua were Vice President Dr. Ralph McCallister and Treasurer Gerald Lynch and speaking for the Boy Choir were Director Swanson and Board members Charles Tranter and William F. Clinger, Jr.

The Mature Parent

Don't Force Children to Break With Strayed Parent

BY MRS. MURIEL LAWRENCE

"WHY should an unfaithful husband rate a father's privileges?" demands a Mrs. T.

"For months my husband has been seeing another woman. Now he tells me he wants not only a divorce but full visiting rights with our two children. How can I agree? Why should I expose my two innocent children to the influence of their father and this woman?" Because the children can't feel about him as you do, Mrs. T. They have not been married to him. So they can't feel the shock and anger you feel at his sexual betrayal. Though you may no longer feel a part of him, your children do.

If you try to divide them from him, you may arouse their doubts of your love for them. They'll feel, "If Mother hates Daddy so that she won't let us see him, she must also hate the part of us that belongs to him." And their confidence that they are wholly dear to you will be badly shaken.

Do you recall the Bible story of Solomon's judgment between the true and false mothers? The false mother was willing to allow Solomon to cut the child in two in order to secure her portion of him. But the true mother withdrew all claim to the child in order to preserve his wholeness. Solomon awarded the child to the mother who let go of him.

If we love children, we don't want to have their feelings split any more than we want their bodies cut in two.

If their father is as unfaithful to them as he's been to you, they will do their own splitting from him in their own time.

It is resentment of your husband that suggests you have to force the splitting on them before they are ready for it.

It would be good to admit you feel it. Otherwise you may continue to dress it up as moral indignation. You'll go on thinking, "It's my duty as a virtuous woman to protect my children against these two sinners."

What our "virtue" is really concerned with is punishment of our unfaithful husband, not his children's safety. We're just trying to make hate appear fine and altruistic.

Unless we can admit we feel it, we won't be able to see how our wish to hurt our husband involves hurting the children, too. Like the false mother in the Bible story, we'll assert our claim to the children regardless of its effect on them.

Gathered From The Party Line

Announcement comes from Indiana State Teachers' College that Miss Sally Swanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. R. Frederick Swanson of 515 Water street, has been initiated into Sigma Sigma Sigma Sorority. Graduate of Warren High in 1955, Miss Swanson is a junior in the Indiana elementary department.

This column was misinformed recently in an article which stated Miss Mary Topper was in Chicago to attend a meeting of Zonta International nominating committee. She is, instead a member of the classifications committee.

Bishop's Men of Trinity Memorial parish will have a meeting next Tuesday evening, and all are urged to turn out.

Miss Sandra Gustafson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Walter Gustafson of Cobham Park road, has returned to Clarion State Teachers' College to complete her sophomore year. Her college activities include Student Christian Association; intramural sports in the Women's Athletic Association; Women's House Council; secretary of the Association for Childhood Education; and Lambda Chi Delta Sorority.

Mrs. Carl Lundahl, 204 Buchanan street, is one of 27 members of the Lutheran Social Service Board who will be attending a meeting in the George Washington Hotel in New York City Wednesday and Thursday for the purpose of revising the board's constitution. Board members represent the seven states comprising the New York Conference, Augustana Lutheran Church, and Mrs. Lundahl is chairman of its public relations committee.

Assistance of The Party Line has been solicited in ascertaining the identity of a well known local music teacher and choir director seen doing "belly-smackers" down Brown Hill on Saturday afternoon. The only clue provided is the large group of boys with whom he seemed to be having a wonderful time!

Carol Hanson, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. J. R. Hanson, 304 Edgewood place, and student at the Hospital of Nursing, University of Pennsylvania, is home for a four-weeks' vacation. She will return to her studies in Philadelphia February 22.

Mrs. Eldridge Byrd, of Washington, D. C., is a guest at the home of her sister, Mrs. Ed C. Lowrey, 10 Crescent Park.

Bob Bloom, son of Mr. and Mrs. Robert Bloom of Quaker road, has returned to Meadville to resume his studies at Allegheny College following the mid-year vacation period. Young Bloom is a member of the junior class at Allegheny.

ALLEN CLASS WILL HAVE PANEL PROGRAM
Allen Class of First Methodist church will meet at 8:00 p. m. Thursday in Dunham parlors, with devotions led by Mrs. L. C. Niederlander. A most interesting program has been arranged by the chairman, Mrs. S. Knox Harper. This will be in the form of a panel discussion of the topic "An Evaluation of Billy Graham and His Ministry". Mrs. Harper will be moderator and panelists will be Mrs. Harry Tourtelot, Mrs. Elbert Miller and Mrs. Edward Betts. Hostesses for the evening are Mrs. Blain Mead and Mrs. G. M. Ostergard, co-chairmen.

Plot Against Cuban Government Revealed

Washington, (AP)—The Justice department today announced the indictment of 30 persons at Miami, Fla., on charges of conspiring to launch a military expedition against the Batista government in Cuba.

The indictment, returned by a federal grand jury also charged the group with conspiracy to illegally export U. S. arms, ammunition and implements of war to Cuba.

Vital Question

As for Lydia's story that she had first gotten in one car with her baby, then moved to another when the rain came in the broken window: "There was glass all over the seat of that first car. Would she leave her baby there? She was never in that car."

And as for the missing keys to both cars. Said the DA: "After the shot she said she ran to the kitchen window and got two sets of keys. She said the first key she tried was the correct one. Yet she admits she was not an experienced driver. It was dark."

The prosecution claimed the girl immobilized Ronald's car to elude pursuit. The defense claimed she dismantled the wiring with cutters to keep him from leaving in the morning without her for a southern army base.

The DA did not, however, ask the death penalty, saying he felt in this case it was not proper due to the circumstances.

Four verdicts are possible: first degree murder, second degree murder, voluntary manslaughter, not guilty.

Chairman

Campbell, who also testified, said his office will take into consideration the testimony given before the subcommittee in auditing accounts of the commission.

Various documents introduced indicated that broadcasting interests paid $1,080.87 for Doerfer and his wife on a trip to Oklahoma City and Spokane, Wash., in October 1954. At the same time, subcommittee counsel Bernard Schwartz contended, Doerfer billed the government for $296.15 in travel expenses for the same trip. Doerfer contended he put in many hours of official work on inspection tours and similar duties and that his claim for government reimbursement was justified.

Men in Service

COMPLETES COURSE

Word comes from Aberdeen, Md., Proving Ground that Pfc. Jack R. Jordan, son of Mr. and Mrs. Emery B. Jordan of Bear Lake RD 1, has completed the automotive repair course at the Ordnance School. Jordan entered the Army in April, 1957, and completed his basic training at Fort Knox, Ky. The 19 year old soldier was graduated from Youngsville High School in 1956 and was employed by Roberts Furniture and Appliances in Columbus.

Six Young Brothers and Sisters Perish in Fire

St. Louis, (AP)—Six young brothers and sisters perished today in an early morning fire which destroyed their two-story frame house. The victims, children of Mr. and Mrs. Lucien Berthelot, were Gerard Raymond, 13; Camille, 14; Huguet, 11; Lisette, 9; Jean-Yves, 6; and Vital, 18 months. Berthelot, 42, and Mrs. Berthelot, 36, were taken to a hospital with burns. All were asleep when the fire began.

SALVATION ARMY AIDING THE BAIRS

Major James Diehl of Salvation Army stated today that immediate furniture needs of the Bair family, burned out of their Russell home, include three single or quarter-size beds complete with springs, mattresses, two dressers and kitchen table and chairs; also linen, towels and washcloths. Major Diehl said the Salvation Army has bedding on hand. Food staples would also be appreciated to tide the family over until the first paycheck. Those wishing to donate may call the Salvation Army at 655.

Russell Boy Is Struck By Car While Sledding

Nine-year-old Bruce Lindquist, son of Mr. and Mrs. Floyd Lindquist, State Street, Russell, suffered a broken right leg about 5 p. m. yesterday when his sled was struck by a car.

Mrs. Lindquist said today that Bruce's condition was "good" at Warren General Hospital.

The boy was sliding down the Russell school yard with many others when his sled traveled out onto State Street. According to a report the operator of the vehicle involved proceeding down State street, was unable to stop and the boy was pinned under the car for perhaps ten minutes while attempts were made to pry the machine away from a telephone pole.

THE EXPLORER

New York (AP)—Explorer is the official name of the first U. S. satellite. But "Juno" could be a fitting nickname. It was launched on its historic journey by a Jupiter-C research rocket. Juno was the wife of Jupiter, top god in Roman mythology. Dr. James Van Allen of the State University of Iowa, who designed the cosmic ray counter in the satellite, had proposed the name "Juno" for the rocket.

Heart Attack Is Fatal to Former County Potato King

C. OSCAR LAUGER

Carl Oscar Lauger, 61, of RD 1, Pittsfield, died in WCA Hospital, Jamestown at 11 a. m. Monday of a heart attack. Mr. Lauger believed to be the largest potato grower in Warren County, was named "Potato King of Pennsylvania" in 1949 when his yield was 859.5 bushels per acre.

Mr. Lauger was born June 12, 1896 in Youngsville, the son of Mr. and Mrs. Charles Lauger. He was raised in that area and lived on Murray Hill for many years. The Lauger Farm near Lottsville had been the family home since 1947.

Mr. Lauger's farm was widely known in this section for the elaborate Christmas lighting project which he carried out annually at his farm until a heart attack forced him to abandon the ambitious project two years ago. Illness also interrupted Mr. Lauger's plan for an expansive recreational project of manmade lakes and picnic areas on the slope behind his farm dwelling.

He was a member of Seven Day Adventist Church in Warren and Pennsylvania Potato Growers Association, the group which presented Mr. Lauger his award of merit in 1949 for the great potato yield.

Surviving are his wife, Elsie Zeiner Lauger; a son, George Lauger of Panama, N. Y.; three grandsons, two sisters, Mrs. Vera Haight and Mrs. Hilda Bergman, both of Orlando, Fla.

Funeral services will be held in Corry Friday at 3 p. m. Burial will be in Youngsville Cemetery.

ELMER LINDELL

The Rev. Wilson Armitage, of Tidoute Baptist church, officiated at 2:00 p. m. Wednesday, January 29, for the funeral of Elmer Lindell, Tidoute.

Warren Dragons in Franklin Tonight for Do-or-Die Game

The Dragons of Warren High travel to Franklin tonight in a "do or die" game. A win is essential if the local cagers expect to stay in the running for the league title. While Warren is battling to stay in contention, Oil City is at Titusville and Meadville hosts Corry in other league play.

For the first time in several weeks the Dragons will be at full strength. Injuries and sickness which has hampered the team at some time or other during the season has disappeared. Mervine Cashman and Monroe have recovered from their colds as has Mark Peterson. With the squad at full strength it is hopeful that the tide of battle will swing in favor of the Blue and White.

The Knights, a small but dangerous club, lost to Warren in the first round by a 58-56 score. However, scores do not tell the story. Both Lynch and Thomas, high scorers at Warren, and running wild in league play, will have to be stopped if the locals are to win. Warren's line-up is not certain. A shake-up might be forthcoming after the Meadville loss. The squad leaves today at 4:45 for the game. On Friday the team will be back on Beaty Court hosting Corry.

Bob Boozar Proving To Be Big Guy in Major College Circles

By ED WILKS

The Associated Press
Witt Chamberlain? Who is he? The big guy in major college basketball today is Bob Boozar, a 6-8 junior who did a virtual one-man wrecking job on Kansas and The Silt in Kansas State's big bid for a crack at the national title.

Boozar scored 32 points and carried the Wildcats in the clutch for a 79-75 double overtime victory at Kansas last night. Chamberlain was held to 25 points.

Now 15-1 Kansas State is ranked No. 4 again in today's Associated Press poll, based on games through last Saturday. West Virginia (15-1), Kansas (12-3) and Cincinnati (15-2) retained the top three spots.

The two midland powers were the only top 10 teams active last night.

Boozar, who played only a few minutes because of an upset stomach when Kansas defeated K-State 78-65 for the Big Eight Tournament title at Christmas time, was a whirlwind. He counted 14 of the Wildcats' 29 field goals and after they had blown a 13-point half-time lead, scored the basket that tied it 60-all at end of regulation play.

It was Boozar, again, whose field goal brought K-State from behind for a 65-63 deadlock at the end of the first overtime.

Then he hit two field goals before fouling out that gave the Wildcats the lead for keeps in the second five-minute session.

Chamberlain, who had a 32.42 average, fell from second to third in the scoring race at 31.8. Seattle's Elgin Baylor still is tops with 32.43, while Cincinnati's Oscar Robertson took over as the runner-up at 32.35. Neither Baylor nor Robertson played last night.

Minnesota junked its losing streak at six with a 69-66 victory over Indiana. George Kline hauled the last-place Gophers from behind with five points in the last 2½ minutes.

Purdue scored on 26 of 29 free throw chances and came from eight points back for a 84-72 victory over Northwestern. Ohio State defeated Illinois 78-70.

Arkansas retained the Southwestern Conference lead with a 58-46 victory at Texas Christian.

Oklahoma replaced Kansas in second place in the Big Eight, with a 68-53 breeze against Colorado. St. Louis hung on in the Missouri Valley, shooting 48 percent from the field for a 98-67 decision at North Texas State.

Duke, which upset West Virginia a week ago, won its fifth straight and gained third place in the Atlantic Coast Conference with a 61-49 victory over South Carolina.

Two Exciting Games Played In the Y.M.C.A. City League

Danielson's 36-foot shot with time running out and the ball in the air gave Guffre's a win and deadlock in the standing with Struthers Hose and G. G. Greene's in the first half of the City League last evening at the YMCA court, the Retailers winning by a score of 62 to 61—one of the closest ever played in the league. Wasson led the scoring for the winners with 21 points. Lindberg and Bevevino, with 17 each, were high for the losers, the Warren Knights.

In another well-played game Struthers Hose defeated Greene's by a score of 80 to 72. Rickerson had 21, Kotmair 20 and Berdine 18 for the winners. Bathurst led the Industrialists with 21.

Speaking of Sports

In Bill Walsh's "Hunting and Fishing" column in the Erie Times-News Sunday, he wrote the following about the deer herd on the Peninsula in Erie: "So far we've heard very little squawking about the Game Commission's use of the rifle as a more efficient tool than the trap in removing excess deer from the Peninsula State Park. One big reason for this is, of course, that it's too late. The harvest has already taken place and there are no ifs, ands or buts about it. In a sense this was the best way to handle the job, even though we personally like to see the public informed a bit more in advance of important game management moves. In this case there was little doubt in the game managers' minds that the trap wasn't going to take enough deer off the place to count for any real reduction (some 50 were removed by the live trapping process in over three weeks of work whereas last year's trapping efforts saw 66 removed in 10 days). Weather was the controlling factor. So in order to avoid endless 'chinning' about the proposal to shoot excess deer so that at least the Soldiers' and Sailors' Home and other charitable institutions might get some use out of the carcasses, the job was done in one day without any advance publicity and some 70-odd deer were harvested. While we'd hate to see the public ignored in every instance, we sort of admire this bit of hard-headed management of a ticklish wildlife problem where there was only one sensible thing to do—and they did it! T. A. Reynolds, supervisor of the Commission's northwest division, believes that the deer herd is now low enough that a moderate trapping program each winter will keep it within sensible bounds for a few years at least. It will be a few days before we get a true estimate on the number of deer supposed to be left on the Peninsula—but it's fairly safe to say that there are at least a couple of dozen and possibly more. The Game Commission used only salaried officers in the shooting of the excess Peninsula deer. It wasn't sport. It was hard, nasty work and to make it nastier the weather turned sour and sent in a half-fog, half snow to cut down visibility and to make being outdoors no pleasure at all. In fact, under such hunting conditions, the Game Protectors and others are to be congratulated on organizing their hunt so well that no one got hurt. Drives were arranged so that all shooting was directed toward the lake side to avoid the possibility of bouncing a slug off the bay and over into Erie. Most sportsmen were talked to are not opposed to the move as taken by the Commission —nor are we. It's a matter of opinion!

Jamestown Sun: The Jamestown High Red Raiders, leading a field of eight non-league contests slated for Tuesday night, trek to Bradford to meet a tall, but strangely impotent, Owl quintet in a game which the Raiders would do well not to take lightly. On paper the Owls look only mediocre with a 4-2 record in their Class A, District 9 league and a 10-6 overall slate. But on the bench, they look like a time bomb without a destined time to go off. Four of the five starting Owls step over the magic six-foot mark, and Coach George Wilcox has no less than six regular bench rosters at the six or over mark. And Raider Coach Vince Joy is apprehensive of this height-advantage, stating Sunday night, "We're expecting them to be rough, just as expect every rival in upcoming games to be rough. We play our schedule one game at a time and we make our preparations accordingly. We're as ready as we'll ever be."

Gootee recommends this method over the standard footprint method widely used.

PACKING TIME—A circus elephant in Paris may be getting ready to move on, judging by the way it's packing its trunk. But more than likely a tasty tidbit is being deposited and a gleam in the eye indicates the animal's looking for more.

TWICE OVER LIGHTLY—Two young brothers in Leesburg, Va., are making the most of what nature has provided. Lacking skates, Bruce Bush, nine, is pushing four-year-old Douglas over the frozen pond as the younger lad sits on a chair.

MARKET ON THE WATER—As a vessel carrying fresh vegetables heaves to for business on the island of Curacao, Dutch West Indies, ship to shore selling is the order of the day. Few vegetables are grown on the island, so they're shipped in and sold right at the dock.

FOR THE ANIMALS—Sprinkling holy water, a priest imparted the traditional blessing to an assembly of pets, mostly dogs, outside the church of St. Eusebio in Rome. The ceremony is held every year on the day of St. Anthony, patron saint of animals. A large crowd, carrying an assortment of pets, including goldfish, attended this year's event.

STUDENT STYLING—Emphasizing the traditional French joie de vivre, the 1958 spring and summer Syma collection in Paris highlights chic boulevard creations for shopping. The outfits are named for streets in that city and this college girl ensemble in beige wool is called "Rue des Canettes."

WITH U.S. HELP—An unidentified man is pointing to the battered facade of the weather-ravaged walls of England's famed Oxford University. They will soon be repaired with the help of the U.S. Ford Foundation's grant of a million dollars, which has swelled the Oxford restoration fund to a million pounds. The school has long been noted for its beauty.

LAUGHING PROTEST—Some university students in Mainz, Germany, think that what's good enough for Gutenberg is plenty good for them, too. Their three-week-old beards don't compare favorably with the chin foliage sported by the statue. However, they'll keep them until their demands for representation on university councils are met.

IN HER HONOR—Before she left New York for Hollywood to make the movie of her hit play, "Auntie Mame," actress Rosalind Russell was guest of honor at a reception given by the Lotos Club. With her are Harry A. Bruno, left, the club's president, and Patrick Dennis, who wrote "Auntie Mame." Greer Garson replaced Miss Russell in the play on Broadway.

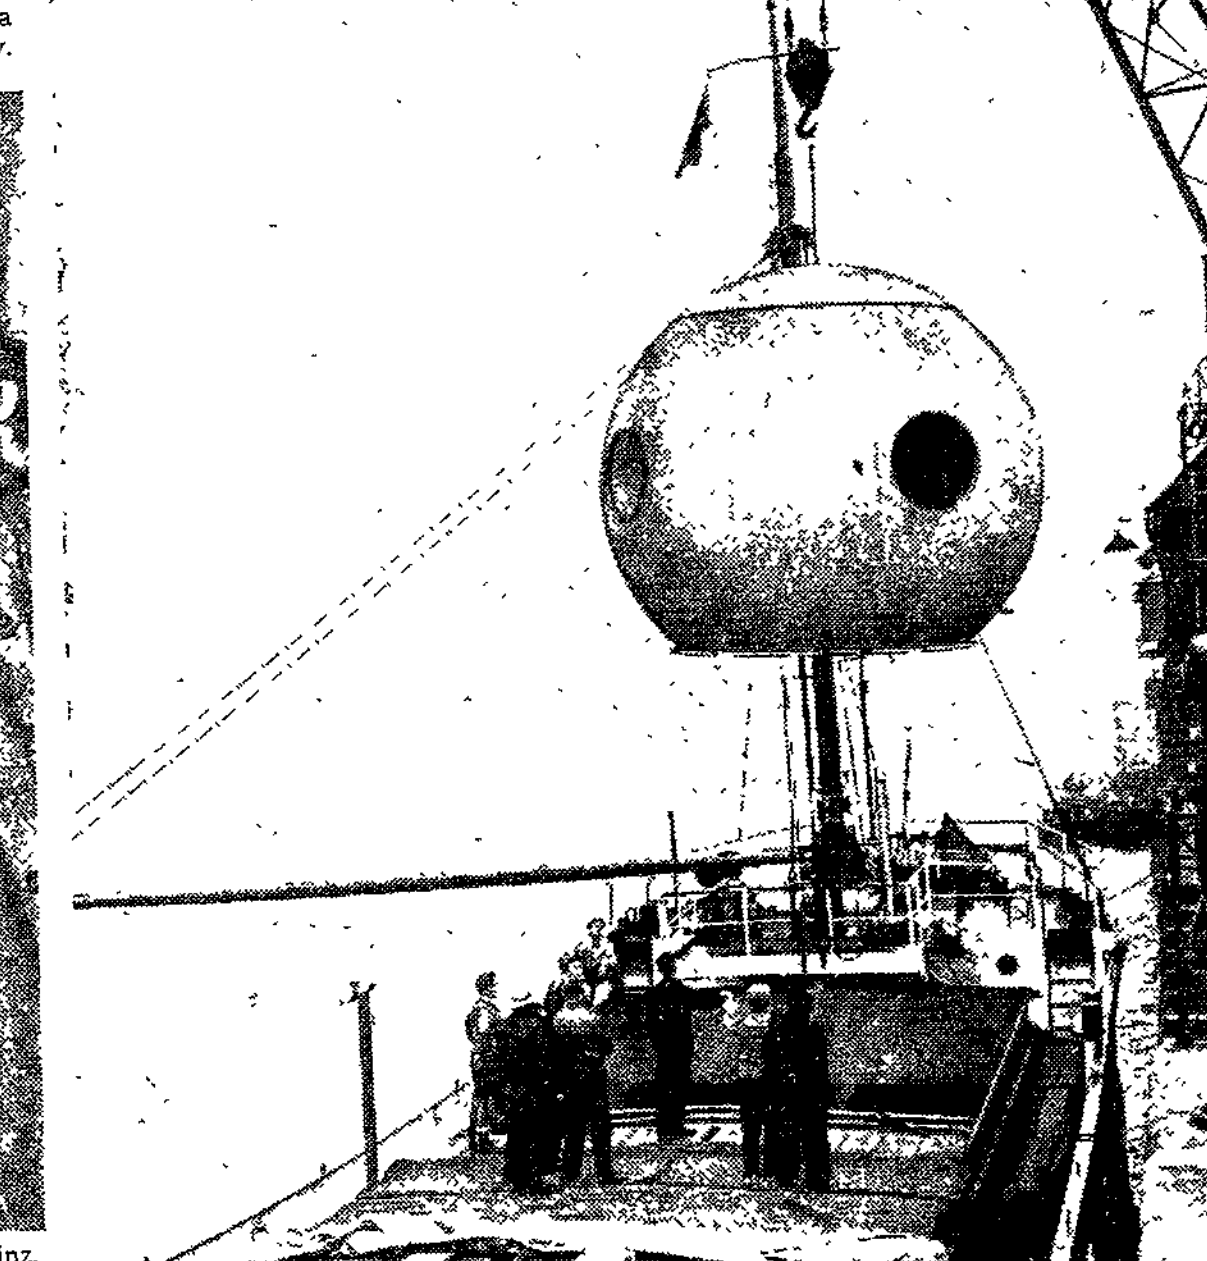

ON HIS OWN—A friendly squirrel is taking time out to nibble on a tasty morsel in New York's Central Park. Now that winter weather is in full force, the tiny animal is more grateful than ever for any tidbits tossed its way. That bushy tail indicates a pretty healthy fellow.

MOST UNUSUAL—Bent with age, a granite tombstone being replaced at a cemetery in Brees, Ill., is being held by Lawrence Macke, an employee of a local monument firm. The condition, which is rare, probably resulted from one side of the stone being exposed to sunshine, with the other in shade.

TURNABOUT—It seems the parrot is free and Ursula Preuss is in a cage in Paris. They were appearing there with a German circus. Ursula does a good job of decorating the cage-like skirt which makes the customers whistle like a lot of canaries.

ROUND OF LIVING—Resembling a deep-sea diving sphere, this odd object is actually a German-made globular weekend house. Made of light metal, it contains a living room, bathroom, kitchen and heating system. It can also be used as an air raid shelter. It's being loaded aboard a freighter in Cologne for shipment to London where it will be exhibited.

Jackknifed Truck Halts Traffic at Overhead

Route 8 traffic got into a real jam this morning after a tractor-trailer jackknifed on the S-overhead near the junction of Routes 6 and 62 about three miles west of Warren.

State Troopers said Carter E. Cope, Jr., 30, of Cleveland, Tenn., was heading west with an empty van when he approached the overhead too fast. His cab skidded into the cement rail, then bounced across the roadway blocking all traffic at the bridge.

Cope was taken to Warren General Hospital and treated for a cut forehead. Then he pleaded guilty to a charge of traveling too fast for conditions and paid his fine. Damage to the cab was estimated at $3,500.

Troopers had difficulty locating a wrecker. By the time the road was cleared about 7:45 a. m., traffic was backed up "almost to Warren," according to one witness. The cars included Forge workers.

Grand Jury Finds True Bills, Poor Acoustics

Grand Jury Monday returned a true bill against all eight cases presented to it by District Attorney Samuel F. Bonavita.

Separate juries will hear each of these indictments beginning next Monday: Melvin R. Atwell, driving under suspension; Vernon Babcock, Arnold Stalder, driving under influence; Roy Conklin, resisting arrest; Ross A. Hawks, F & B; Melvin Tingle, false pretense; Ned J. Zafino, Carl Eastman, assault and battery.

After declaring acoustics in the Grand Jury room to be poor, jury members repaired to Rouse Home at Youngville for lunch and an inspection tour. The jury recommended that prompt attention should be given installation of TV cables as recommended by the past three Grand Juries; that a step on the second floor of the main building should be made safe and a handrail affixed to the front porch steps.

In the women's building, it was recommended that tiles be replaced and repaired on the second floor sun porch; that a hinge gate be placed at the top of the stairs; that a downstairs sink be taken upstairs to facilitate washing now done by hand in the bathtub; that toilet plumbing be fixed, along with the two bed pan washers out of order for six months; that roll-away bed and sick room trays could be used.

Mr. and Mrs. Rowland of the Rouse Home were thanked for their kindness and hospitality in the Grand Jury report signed by Robert W. Pickett, foreman.

ELEVATOR INSTALLED

A freight elevator has been installed at Miller's Children's Shop to facilitate store operations. The shaft, running from cellar to third floor behind the building, was constructed by Ludwig Peterson. Jim Miller, manager, stated that one of its main advantages would be moving of the marking room from the first to third floor.

FOUR EMERGENCIES

WARREN COUNTY 14TH

A squib in the latest issue of Pennsylvania Department of Commerce Newsletter points out that Warren County has become the 14th Commonwealth county to qualify for matching funds for industrial promotion. Under state legislation, countywide agencies acquire funds on a 10 cents per capita basis to help in promoting their plant location advantages. Other counties now in the plan are Erie, Allegheny, Philadelphia, Fayette, Huntingdon, Bucks, Blair, Washington, Lackawanna and Venango.

MANY, MANY SKATERS

A total of 12,920 skaters were counted at Beatty rink during 14 skating days in January, according to supervisors' report. The evening sessions proved about twice as popular as the afternoon, with a total of 7,600 counted then compared to 4,730 earlier. It is pointed out that undoubtedly many persons were counted twice, but the popularity of the rink is undeniable. Last year there were 29 skating days in January. Continued cold is expected to bring the rink back into operation shortly.

ROTARY ENJOYS PROGRAM

"The Mayflower Story," a pictorial record of the crossing of the Atlantic by Mayflower II in 1957, was presented to the Warren Rotary Club on Monday by Cliff Johnson, local representative for Aero Mayflower, the sponsors of the film. Judge Flick reported to the club that the Warren Probation Association drive for $5000.00 in endowments for the current year has reached $3450.14. High school guest, Priscilla Ross was introduced by her father, Dick Ross. The other high school guest, Sue Pritchard, was introduced by Neil Culbertson.

Retailers

A new set of by-laws creating a Retail Division of the Chamber was adopted last year and goes into effect this month. Among other points clarified in the by-laws is a new system of electing the retailer committee.

Committee reports last night included final plans for Dollar Days by Frank Wood's sales promotion committee and a resume of parking projects by Chairman Jake Levinson.

William R. Walker, newly elected Chamber president was a guest at the meeting and pledged the Chamber's support in working on retailer problems. He specifically mentioned that the Chamber was interested in traffic and parking as a community problem and that it would be included in the 1958 program of work to be revealed at tomorrow night's annual Chamber membership banquet.

At the conclusion of the meeting a standing vote of appreciation was extended Committee chairman James Blomquist for his leadership the past year.

HOUSE MACE

The present mace used in the U. S. House of Representatives dates from 1842. It is a reproduction of the original mace, which was burned in the Capital in 1813.

Warren County Cherry Pie Baking Champion

Miss Sally Daley, 17, of Warren, above, was the winner of the Warren County Cherry Pie Baking Contest held in the Peneluc Kitchens in Warren.

The Senior from Warren High School will represent Warren County in the State finals to be held in Erie on February 8 with 15 county champions competing.

The winner of the state contest will travel to Chicago to represent Pennsylvania in the national contest to be held February 20 as a feature of National Cherry Week.

Sally will be accompanied to Erie by her teacher, Mrs. Robert Whitehill. In the event that she would win the state contest, her teacher would also travel to Chicago with her.

Sally, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Neal Daley, is active in the Future Homemakers and a member of the Future Teachers and her favorite hobby is baking.

SUGAR GROVE

Sugar Grove—The local Lions Club will welcome Elbert W. Nine of Warren, governor of District 14-J of Lions International, at a meeting to be held in the home economics building Thursday.

Purpose of his visit is to make more personal contacts with officers and members of the club; and to advise President Fred Bauer and Secretary Eugene Anderson, as well as other officers, on matters pertaining to administration and other phases of Lionism locally and throughout the district.

Sugar Grove Lions Club is an active unit of the International Association, which is dedicated to community betterment, to national economic, social and cultural progress, and to the promotion of world understanding.

District 14-J includes 66 clubs in 10 counties of Pennsylvania, with approximately 2,600 members. Governor Nine is a member of the Warren Club, oldest in the district, and has maintained a perfect attendance record since joining in 1951. He has served his own club as assistant secretary, secretary, second and first vice president, and is currently its president.

Among those attending the Boy Scout Recognition Dinner in Warren were Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schoonover.

Mr. and Mrs. Walter Storms have been recent Buffalo victors.

Mr. and Mrs. Robert Morgan attended the funeral of their uncle, Emile O. Morgan, in Jamestown.

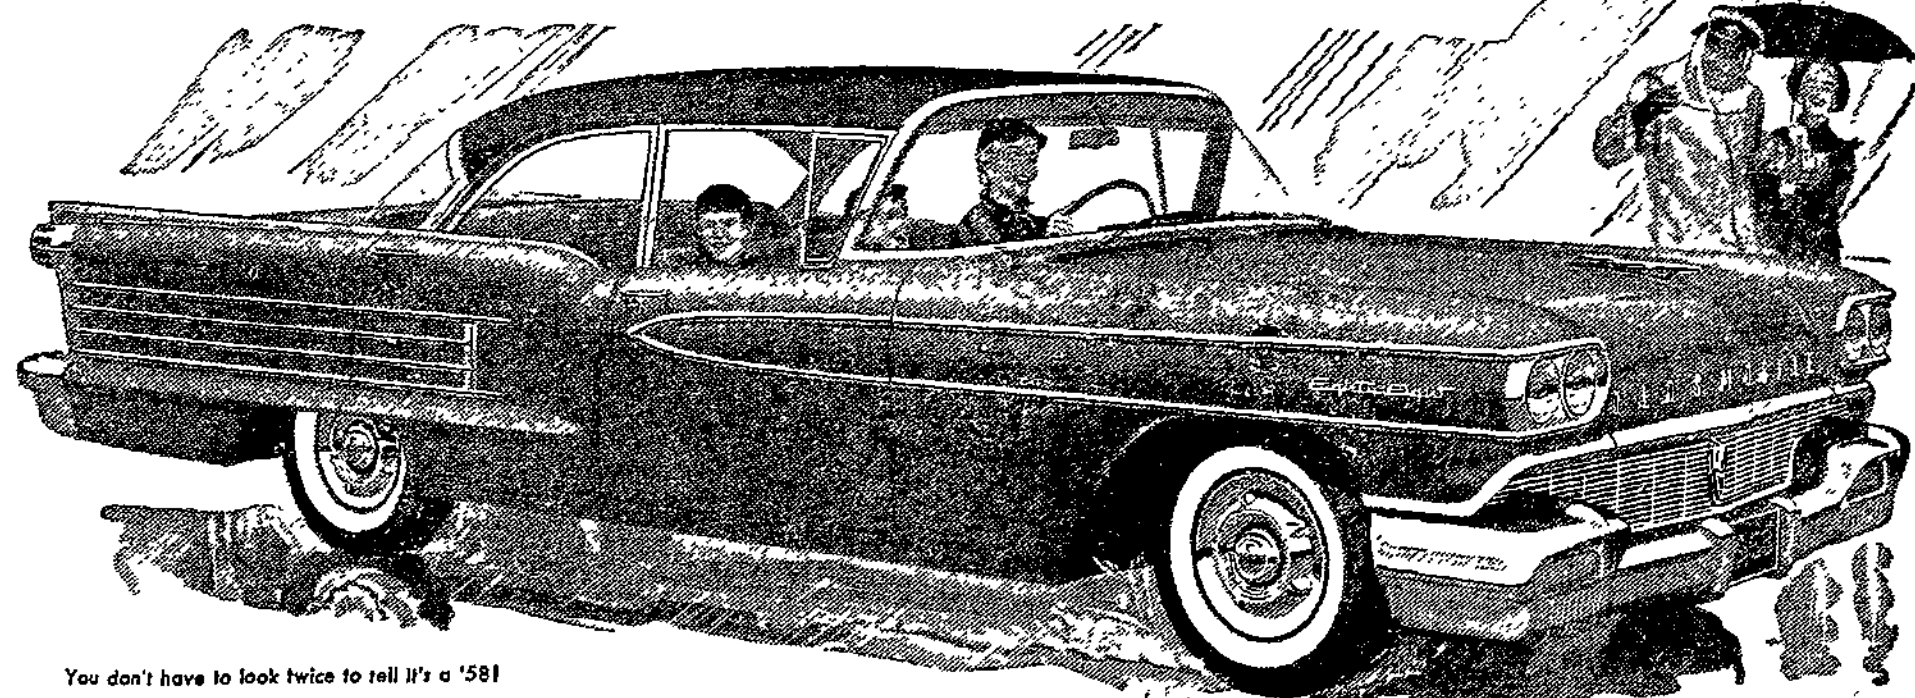

Mr. and Mrs. F. A. Schoonover attended the annual dinner meeting of the Tri-County Funeral Directors' Association, held in Kane.
